It’s all about relationship!

The Rev. Raymond E. Cole, Jr., Interim Rector

You will hear me repeat the phrase above often during my tenure as your interim rector. It will be often repeated because it is what I believe to be at the heart of the gospel. Our relationship with God, to be sure. After all, it was for the purpose of restoring our relationship with God that Jesus was born, lived, taught, died, rose again and sent the Holy Spirit. He shows us just how far he will go to make things right between us – even to death.

But that is not all! Because he invites us into the same dying and rising life that he himself was called to live. I often, for example, tell couples that the vows they make in marriage are not just nice words, rather they seal a commitment to “give themselves to each other forever – no matter what!” That is the way God gives himself to us. That is the way he expects us to give ourselves to him and to one-another. In a society that is concerned about “my rights” and in so many ways holds up “being right” as a cultural virtue, God invites us to something quite different. He invites us to give up my right to be right for the sake of our right relationship.

This does not mean that we cannot disagree on important matters; we do not stop thinking, sharing and seeking holiness. But it does mean that we hold our “oneness in Christ” as more important than winning arguments. That is why forgiveness and seeking forgiveness are so important. It is the difference between “being right” and living the truth.

The truth about us is that in our baptism we are one with Christ and one with each other. Often the way we live would seem to deny that truth; the “facts” about us do not always tell the “truth” about us.

The “facts” will often highlight our anger, hurt and hostility; our need to be “right” will frequently be the wedge that draws us apart; our pride will sometimes stand in the way of seeking a restored relationship. Jesus asks that, in humility, we allow him to work through us to restore relationships and live into the “truth” of who we are. It is hard work – but it is kingdom work. It is all about relationship!

Today, right now, I urge you to think of someone with whom you need to renew the truth of your relationship. Perhaps it is someone with whom you have disagreed. Maybe someone whom you have hurt or who has hurt you: a relative, friend, coworker, or fellow parishioner. And then, I invite you to seek out that person and begin the steps to restored fellowship.

And let me know how you’re doing – or if I can help. God bless you in this kingdom work.

Yours in Christ,

The Rev. Raymond E. Cole, Jr., ray@stlukes-sa.net
Raymond Cole was born in Newburyport, Massachusetts, where he lived until the seventh grade, when his family moved to Bucks County, Pennsylvania. He holds a B.A. from Lehigh University and a M.Div. from the General Theological Seminary. He was ordained deacon and later priest in 1963.

In the same year, he married his wife Keena. The Coles have three adult sons: twins Chris and Craig, born in 1966, and Raymond III, born in 1974. Chris is a priest in Hillsboro, Oregon. He is married and has two daughters. Craig is Executive Director of Five Talents International, a micro business/micro credit ministry serving the Anglican Communion. He and his wife have a son and daughter and live in Fairfax, Virginia. The Coles’ third son is Irrigation Manager of the Robert Trent Jones Trail golf course in Birmingham, Alabama.

If you have been to the Bishop Jones Center, you may already know Keena, who works part-time with Betty Churney in the World Missions Department. She served as Bishop Hibb’s administrative assistant during the year before he retired.

Fr. Raymond has served five congregations: Grace Church, Mt. Airy, Philadelphia (curate, 1963-1966); Church of the Epiphany, Royersford, Pennsylvania (vicar, 1966-1973); Church of the Good Samaritan, Pala, Pennsylvania (1973-1979); St. Mark’s Church, Glen Ellyn, Illinois (rector, 1979-1996), and St. George Church, San Antonio (rector, 1996-2004), from which he retired. He has been Interim Rector at two other churches: St. Philip’s, Uvalde, and Trinity Church, Victoria.

During nearly 44 years of ministry, he worked on Diocesan committees in these capacities: Youth Ministry, Cursillo, Resolutions committee, Spiritual Growth, Budget, Parish Consultation, and Episcopal Schools Commission, to name a few. In addition, several years ago, he and Keena were National Executive Clergy Couple for the Episcopal expression of Marriage Encounter. Currently he serves as the Bishop’s Deputy for Episcopal Schools and was recently asked to co-chair with Bishop Reed a committee to explore the possibility of introducing the Vocation Deaconate in the Diocese of West Texas.

Fr. Ray admits to spending most of his life in “Yankee-land.” He met Keena—born and bred in Corporus Christi—New York City during his senior year at seminary and had the good sense to marry her, with the mission of making a Yankee out of her. As it turned out, when they moved to Texas from Chicago and crossed the state line, she soon made a Texan out of him. Says Fr. Ray, “One of our missions in life is to see a professional baseball game in every major league park. We are Cubs fans—so we know how to live with and survive frustration.”

Activities for the group included a tour of the capital, monument tour by moonlight, and tours of the Cathedral. Our acolytes will share their experience and videos with the congregation at a special event later this spring. In addition, the acolytes have been invited to the acolyte festival in Kerville on May 5. Our Volunteers
Did you know that throughout the year there are over 150 volunteers involved in various ministries to children and families? Many of these help to develop and support seasonal events or help with our nurseries, and about fifty people serve as teachers or Chapel leaders on Sunday mornings. Those who give their time on Sundays also devote time during the week to preparing lessons so that the children can have the best experience possible. As an example, Godly Play teachers spend an average of at least two hours just preparing and memorizing their stories, and some of these have devoted extra time to be accredited as certified Godly Play teachers.

Our last day of Sunday School classes is Sunday, May 20, so May would be a wonderful time to thank these teachers, whether you have a child in their classes or not! Their names are listed on the Children’s Ministries bulletin board in the Main Hallway. All of our volunteers are vital to our ministry to children and families here at St. Luke’s!

Youth Ministry
Youth on a Mission
This summer, St. Luke’s youth will answer the call of Jesus to Peter in the 21st chapter of John, feeding his lambs, taking care of his sheep, and feeding his sheep. The youth will have the chance to do all three, going over the border with high school students (Summer in the Valley I & II) or with their families (Family Mission Trip), or by staying in San Antonio, serving the children of St. Luke’s (Vacation Bible School) or those at the Good Samaritan Center (Middle School In-Town Mission, Good Sam VBS).

We are also honored to have new, exciting relationships with the people of Piedras Negras, St. George, and Christ Episcopal Churches. The third week of July will be spent assisting the summer VBS at El Buen Pastor Iglesia Anglicana de Mexico where we will serve up to 1000 children. We will rebuild home for a single mother of two, and much more. This trip is for all—who is interested in mission work should join us on this trip.

We will also join with St. Peter & St. Paul Episcopal Church in Mission, Texas, in orphanage ministry in Reynosa for the third year. We will make two trips.

This will be the first year for Vacation Bible School at San Antonio’s Good Samaritan Center. This is our in-town mission trip for middle school students from area Episcopal churches and a great way to meet up with Camp Capers friends, all while serving the community of Saltillo Avenue.

Spaces are limited for the Summer in the Valley trips, so reserve your place now! For details & registration forms for any of the trips or events for this years schedule, please log onto the website www.saintlukesepiscopal.net/youth or contact Chris (youth@stlukes-sa.net).
Godly Play prepared for Easter

During Lent, the children in St. Luke’s Godly Play prepared for the Mystery of Easter by hearing the stories of Christ’s journey toward the cross and then His resurrection—the stories of Jesus’ birth and growth, His being “lost” and then found in the temple in Jerusalem, His baptism, desert discovery experience, the Last Supper, and ultimately His crucifixion and resurrection! After each story was presented, the children were asked to ponder its connection with other stories of the People of God. The children brought items from other stories (both Old and New Testament) to place beside the stories they had heard that day. It is always fascinating and humbling to see the connections they make! The photos included show the Pre-Kindergarten and Kindergarten children. Ask one of them to share their work with you, “for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these.”

Easter Thank-You’s

Despite the rain, our annual Easter Egg Hunt was a huge success. The children were once again entertained by Jimmy the Clown, and hundreds of eggs were expertly hidden (by some of our Youth) and found inside our spacious building! Many thanks to the event coordinators, Melany Andersen and Donelle Holck!

Water Ministry

Honduras

Business Philosophy
Honduras Water Ministry’s focus is to develop the water resources necessary for providing the people of a village with the water needed to sustain and improve their health and living conditions by involving those people in projects which are sustainable beyond the missionaries’ presence.

Vision and Product of Honduras Water Ministry
- Provide safe, adequate water resources to people in the rural developing areas, to teach them to maintain safe water sources, and show them how to sustain and improve their own lives and the lives of their neighbors through the gift of water.
- Through the ministry’s work in Honduras, provide a model for all people to have access to safe drinking water and sanitation.

- To make a difference and improve the quality of life both physically and spiritually by providing the “living water” to those we serve.
- The ministry is largely a volunteer organization and that provides an important service to its volunteers by providing them the opportunity to participate in a very worthy philanthropic effort to help the poor that would not receive such help.

Extra Notes

- Needed Volunteers
  - $2,000-$3,500 per well

- Volunteers
  - The Honduras project has three rigs: one large and two smaller portable units

- The Ministry includes water hygiene training, water quality evaluations, English teaching and children’s ministry

- When the Ministry is out of Region, Rotary International continues the project and pays all expenses for drilling

- Since 2003, 23 of 30 bore holes have met minimum requirements for water

- Ninety percent of the bore wells successfully bring in water.

Northern Mexico

The Water Ministry is going in new directions by venturing into Northern Mexico. The new drill rig moved to the Valley to begin drill camp training Friday, April 13.

- Drill camp training is expected to continue through the summer with plans for the well being drilled in early fall.
- Those interested in helping or gaining more information about future drilling may contact Jeremy Cooper (jeremyncooper@satx.rr.com).
- For more information on the work in Mexico contact Jeremy Cooper or Curt Mowen; or email the ministry (water@satx.rr.com).
In a show of faith by the community, a large six foot cross has been raised on site, and church services with supper are held every Tuesday.

“IT IS THE CLOSEST FOREIGN CITY TO SAN ANTONIO WHERE A PERSON CAN DO MISSION WORK IN A THIRD WORLD SETTING.” BOBBY HAUSSER

Padre Miguel Cristerna, along with his wife Maria Elena, the only female Anglican priest in Northern Mexico, have an outreach program in Piedras Negras. Both are well known and respected on both sides of the Rio Grande. El Buen Pastor is a refuge for the abused.

Build It and They Will Come

- Missionaries and clergy regularly make the two-and-a-half hour trip to Piedras Negras (pop. 300,000); it and Eagle Pass are the two safest cities on the U.S-Mexican border.
- In February 2007, the City Council of Piedras Negras deeded a piece of land to Padre Miguel Cristerna and El Buen Pastor for a new church on the new town plaza and park in the colonia Las Lajas. The church will be the only structure on this entire block and will be a social center for the entire neighborhood. The people in the colonia gave a signed petition to city council in support of this church.
- The church has one year to pour a foundation with columns for wall and roof support. If no construction is done by February 2008 the church will lose the property.
- A second project being undertaken is the building of a new cinder block home for a single mother and two children. This project is being undertaken by the youth and parents of St. Luke’s Church, Christ Church and St. George. Here is a chance to work together as Christians for a better community on both sides of the Rio Grande.
- If you have any interest or questions, please call Chris Mitchell, St. Luke’s Youth Minister or Bobby Hausser, World Missions.

Godly Play

Women from El Buen Pastor learn how to teach the children through Godly Play as part of the Mission boards work. Sandy Graciano makes regular trips to educate and encourage the group.

Needs

The congregation of El Buen Pastor needs $10,000 seed money to begin building their church.

The mission board of St. Luke’s Church is asking for your monetary support for the building of a new Anglican Church in Piedras Negras. Checks can be made out to St. Luke’s, World Missions with the notation “New Church, Piedras Negras, Mexico” and given to Gary Christensen in the church office.

Trinity Professor gives insights on Islam
“Islam is the relative we don’t talk about,” says Dr. Frank Garcia-Treto, currently teaching a course on Islam during the Sunday School hour through May 20. “We as Christians need to know how we can connect to it—after all, as an Abrahamic religion, it branches from the same historical roots as our own faith. We cannot understand many of the developments of the Middle Ages unless we understand the contributions of Islam.”

In this brief overview class, Dr. Garcia is tracing Islamic history and practices and hopes to correct the popular misunderstanding that Islam is a monolithic religion composed only of jihadists. Dr. Garcia brings a rich and diverse background to the study. A native of Cuba, a naturalized citizen, a graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, and an ordained Presbyterian minister, he taught at Trinity University for forty years in the Department of Religion.
Here we go again
Fr. Carl W. Wright, Chaplain, Major, USAF

Here we go again, same old stuff again!” Those are words to the soldier’s well-known marching jodie (cleaned-up of course for Christian consumption). Here I go again, in the Middle East, in the middle of Lent, my second tour of duty at the Front. I think I’m a part of the surge that’s supposed to make everything right once and for all. (No comment on that.) But I had a feeling my Lent would be profitable this year, and God has not disappointed.

Having been here in Kuwait a couple of weeks, I’d like to share some thoughts about my present reality. First it begs comparison to the combat M*A*S*H hospital in Iraq last year. There is no comparison. Last year was more danger and more action. This year is safer and more remote. I am an Air Force chaplain on the Kuwaiti Naval Base, situated right on the beautiful Persian Gulf, in a small Air Force contingent, making occasional forays into Iraq, answerable to an Army chain-of-command, serving hundreds of transient sailors, soldiers, and marines! How’s that for a clear description? It may be bad grammar, but it perfectly describes my job.

Worse, I’m quartered in what could easily pass for an Iraqi prison, in my own little cell. My private bath consists of a crude shower head that looks like an instrument of torture and toilet that’s a hole in the floor attractively surrounded by Arabic ceramic tiles. But I’m not complaining.

Already I’ve divined a first Lenten lesson: this wartime experience will be more difficult for me than last year’s. Last year I experienced first hand the horrors of war. I touched death daily. This year I’m slightly removed from it; and will go in and out of it. Where last year I was an eye-witness, almost a victim; this year I’m a “hear-say” witness to the action.

God is speaking to me. It was easier to deal with the opposite extreme of my American way of life; which was Iraq last year. It will be more difficult, however, to deal with oil-rich Kuwait for these six months, where the most exciting thing I’ll do is preach the Gospel, celebrate the Sacraments, feed the orphans, and listen to warriors’ confessions.

Oh dear, what am I saying? How ungrateful can one be? Have I forgotten how blessed I am to be here, God’s servant to hundreds of grateful young souls? Too many of us chaplains vainly seek to be where the “action” is, forgetting that in ministry the action is wherever God sends us. So I guess my second Lenten lesson can be summarised in the words of that good ole Baptist hymn, “Count your blessings, name them one-by-one; count your blessings and see what the Lord hath done!” Amen.

Fr. Carl W. Wright attended St. Luke’s Church while stationed at Lackland AFB. In August 2005, he was transferred to Iraq where he served as Expeditionary Medical Group Chaplain. After a year stateside, he was transferred to Kuwait in March of this year. His E-mail address is: carl.wright@kuwait.swa.army.mil.

Clergy in our midst: The Rev. Lloyd Johnson
Neal Wagner

You can usually find Lloyd Johnson and his wife Janie at the 10.00 a.m. Wednesday Healing Eucharist, sometimes with an infant grandson Campbell in tow. Janie became a member of St. Luke’s this January, while as a priest, Lloyd remains canonically resident in the Diocese of Northern Indiana. They knew San Antonio and St. Luke’s from visits over the past fourteen years. According to Lloyd, for thirty years the family parish had been a “given,” because of his position as Rector; now it was Janie’s turn to choose. They looked at five churches, and the worship life at St. Luke’s was closest to what they were accustomed.

Lloyd became involved with the Episcopal Church at the University of Vermont in 1957 as a freshman. He remembers a specific evening by himself where he felt a calling to the priesthood. He finished a degree in accounting at the University of Miami, following his mom’s advice to have a backup profession, but in fact accounting was useful to him in his ministry. In 1966 he finished Nashotah Seminary (just west of Milwaukee), where Chip Prehn would finish his own studies two decades later. There he received his “strong spiritual formation as a person of prayer and as a Catholic Episcopalian.”

After his ordination, he got a call to St. Gregory’s in Boca Raton, where he met Janie in the first year of an eight-year stay.
Easter Vigil and Paschal Reception memorable

Despite the rain and cold, a large congregation assembled on Saturday, April 7, for the great Vigil of Easter and the Paschal Reception in the Parlor which followed. Each year, interest in the Vigil has grown with a significant number of young adults and their children participating. We are indebted to our liturgical and musical ministry volunteers for their hard work and talents which enable St. Luke’s to offer the Vigil service.

Many thanks are also due to the volunteers who provided a splendid array of food and drink at the Paschal Reception. It was everything that the “feast” of Easter should be.

Thank you very much to Graciel Gonzalez for arranging everything so beautifully in the Parlor.

Dear St. Luke’s Family,

Barbara and I wish to thank you for your prayers, visits, calls, gifts and the love you have showered on us. During the most trying time of my life I was never alone. You, my brothers and sisters, held Barbara and me up and helped us survive a difficult journey. St. Luke’s is truly God’s shining light on the hill. There is no place on earth I want to be.
